

HAVENS Horsefeed

Presents a fascinating insight into gastric ulcers in performances horses

One of most persistent and challenging problems with racehorses and performance horses today is gastric ulcers. Learn how more than 93% of racing horses, 63% of equestrian performance horses and 37% of leisure horses, suffer from this painful condition and what we can do about it. Topics covered:

- Occurrence of gastric ulcers in race-horses;
- What really happens in the horse;
- How can we treat & reduce the occurrence of ulcers;
- How can we prevent them;
- How does new Gastro+ work

Havens Chief Nutritionist Mrs. Esther Damen-Verhees is a passionate rider herself and has been working at HAVENS Horsefeed in the Netherlands, since 2008. As chief nutritionist she was lead-scientist for the world first specific horsefeed that targeted gastric ulcer, HAVENS Gastro+ project.

Mrs. Esther Damen-Verhees hold a Masters-Degree in Animal Science (specialism Animal Nutrition) from Wageningen University. Before that she studied Biology at Nijmegen University and Veterinary Medicine at Gendt Belgium University)
